The Provincial Information Technology Office is giving its best to cater all the needs of offices, and hospitals under the Provincial Government of Bulacan and even cities and municipalities that require technical assistance to the system being used in the province, which is RPTIS. Despite the job orders and request letters being submitted to the office, the problem surfaced on how to meet the volume of service orders handed with the same level of severity while observing gender equality and sensitivity. Given the limited number of staff, delays in giving services are often realized. Monitoring of the status of request is somewhat crucial on the part of the office and the concerned department.
